WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 28.

To THE PUBLIC.- From the 1st day of July, 1851, the postage on the Daily American Telegraph, Washington city, D. C., will be, per quarter in advance, as follows:—Fifty miles or under, 25 cents; over fifty and not over three hundred, 50 cents; over three hundred and not exceeding one thousand, 75 cents, &c. Any person wishing to be served for three months after the above date need only pay his quarter's postage, and send us a gold dolla course; or five dollars for a year. The Telegraph is independent in politics, polite, moral, agreeable, and familiar empt in furnishing the news, and a terror to all evil

WASHINGTON, May 27, 1851.

THE DUELIST .- There was once an ennobling idea connected with the duel, in the time when it was believed, in the blindness of superstition, that Heaven gave strength to the arm of the just. Dueling then arose as a proper and becoming means of deciding all questions in which honor was at issue. But we have now no such plea for its continuance. The duelist can promise himself no better reward for his valor than the admiration of the depraved and vulgar; and it is his error to over-estimate the number of these among his fellow-citizens.

It is a great misfortune to any gentleman to be compelled to protect himself from ruffian violence; but it may become necessary. To repair, however, with deliberation to the field. to murder or be murdered, must be regarded as the act of one who despises the restraints of religion and morality, and is heartless enough to cruelly outrage the feelings of his friends and the community around him; and whether death follows upon his act or not, the world has the proof that the malignant and deliberate in-scene of blood, until he shall have repented the act, and by his solemn declaration renounced its practice for all future time.

CANADA MAILS .- The newspaper press of the country generally would render a public service by informing their readers that, under an arrangement recently entered into between the post office authorities of the United States and of Canada, letters are now sent at ten cents the single rate, whether the postage is prepaid or not. This is the whole postage to or from any part of Canada, unless the letter is conveyed over United States territories more than three thousand miles from the Canada line, in which case the entire single rate is fifteen cents.

The postage on newspapers and other printed matter, however, must as heretofore be pre- structive magazine. paid to the Canada line.

His made the assertion that such was the fact, and offence was an assault and battery upon the pera number of editors repeated it as a truth; but son of Mr. John Pettibone. that he should reiterate one of his own statements as a thing believable is rather strange. We wonder, however, that one could be so ready to accuse another of political servitude who has ever been himself so independent and incorruptible. It is the guilty mind that harbors evil thoughts of others.

A writer in the Intelligencer suggests to adno consecutive numbering for the houses in our | see." streets. The alphabet and ordinal numbers appear to be exhausted upon the streets themselves. Yet something may be done in the way of tin labels for the public accommodation.

ARREST OF REVOLUTIONISTS IN CUBA .- A let-Savannah News, in speaking of the recent arrests, says:

"Papers were taken which discovered a plot to commence insurrection while on the grand parade, and the insurgents had taken measures to capture the head-quarters of the city, and to secure the landing of Garibaldi with 3,000 men. At the same time Lopez would have effected a landing in some part of Havana. The judge, after having concluded the proceedings, sentenced to death four, and to perpetual confine-ment three, of the principal officers; and to ten years' hard labor, a sergeant of the garrison and two privates. The traitor who betrayed them was released. This sentence has been approved by the Captain-General at Havana."

There were 330 deaths in New York last week, of which number twelve were by smallpox.

ARLINGTON.-Parties of ladies and gentlemen, from Washington and Georgetown, daily visit this delightful retreat, to enjoy their social pic-nics in its pleasant shades; but we late interrupted their harmony, and, in some instances, driven them from the grounds. This is very shameful, and should not be submitted to. We would suggest that prompt and decided action be had in the premises. A magistrate of that county should give his presence, and forces from this city be ready to aid him at a and a silver quarter in a small letter—postage paid, of moment's notice. The laws of Virginia are adequate to suppress every thing of this kind, and they should be enforced with vigor. If this thing cannot be done-if the men of the two towns cannot protect their wives and daughters in the enjoyments to which Mr. Custis makes them welcome upon his beautiful estate-we think it should be known and con-

THE LATE DUEL AGAIN! - Having come to an "end of the chapter" yesterday, we must open a new one this morning. A friend whom tention of murder had been cherished in his we hold in very high esteem has called upon us, and assured us that we have done Mr. Hooe great injustice in intimating, or leaving it to be inferred, that he is in the habit of bar-room We are not of those who will excuse an act of drinking or associations. Thus seriously addressed, we deem it proper to state that he has been known in this community as a gentleman murderer because he has so long premeditated of the strictest temperate habits and moral deportment, a rigid man of business, an esteemed citizen, and a gentleman without blemish; whose associations, also, have ever been far reand professions are superior to the practices of moved from the society of the frequenters of the base and groveling is responsible and rep- taverns and the participants in broils and fights. We cannot speak of his position in relation to the late scene without making reference to Mr. Dallas also, and pronouncing judgment in the case, and we therefore refrain altogether.

We have made free with both gentlemen, and held them up to public condemnation. We have nothing to recant in this particular, unless (as we do not perceive) our remarks may have implied any thing in disparagement of the sobriety and fair fame of Mr. H.

MR. WEBSTER. - Albany, May 27 .- Daniel Webster arrived this afternoon, and was met at Schenectady by a committee from this city, where he made a brief speech. ADDITIONAL PER CANADA. - New York, May Licerpool, May 17.—The panic in cotton, which resulted in ordering sales regardless of price, is now over, and there are more buyers than sellers. The market closed firm at the following quotations: Middling Uplands 54@. 5½, fair do. 5½; middling Mobile 5½, fair do. 6½; middling Orleans 51, fair do. 61.

> SHORT DRESS .- We hail the event of short dresses with delight, and propose a vote of the passage of the canal enlargement bill. The Southerner arrived from Charleston. who had the moral courage first to adopt the appropriate costume. Our theory has been for a long time in affirmation of the practice, and we have been anxiously looking for the debut of some bold spirit attired in this most comely Now the fashion has been fairly started, let all follow it as speedily as possible. We do most sincerely hope that no ridiculous notion of propriety, of the exposure of feet and ankles, of how Miss or Mrs. Such-a-one would look, will for a moment deter any woman from adopting this most convenient mode of dress. Any sensible man or woman will perceive at once the utilitarian character of the new fashion; and certainly the superior elegance of the oriental costume over the draggling European fashion has never been questioned. But we dare affirm as never been questioned. that four-fifths of the masculine gender will go in for the reform, and will hail with joyful ac-clamations the day when their wives and daughters, bursting from their shroud-like enclosures, shall stand unencumbered by their swaddling garments, clothed as becomes those who are eady to start on the race of life.

We repudiate the notion put forth by some ournalists, that none but the small-footed of the fair sex stand forth in advocacy of the Turkish mode. We happen to know a lady, a jealous advocate of reform in this particular, who, notwithstanding she is blessed with a "large un-derstanding," is nevertheless perfectly willing to hazard her reputation for delicate feminine proportions, by the adoption of a costume so lucive to the real benefit of her sex. Female ingenuity, never at a loss for expedients to cover personal defects, will very soon discover some elegant method of obviating the difficulty, exactly suited to the emergency. To the timid of the sex, who are always frightened at a change, be it what it may, we would suggest the propriety of their calming their ears, by calmly surveying the wardrobe of a lady worn twenty years ago, and by carefully comparing it with the fashion now in vogue. If change is not admitted to be as marvelous as the one now proposed we will give it up, and stick to the bedrabbled petticoats.

INTERESTING ASTRONOMICAL FACT. -Two persons were born at the same place, at the same moment of time. After an age of fifty years, they both died, also at the same spot, and at the same instant; yet one of them lived one hundred days more than the other. How was this possible? Not to keep our friends in suspense, the solution turns on a curious, but, with a very little reflection, a very obvious point in circumnavigation. A person going round the world to the west loses a day, and towards the east he gains one. Supposing, then, two persons born at the Cape of Good Hope, whence a voyage around the world may be performed in a year—if one perform this constantly towards the west, in fifty-one years he will be fifty days behind the stationary inhabitants; and if the other sail equally east, he will gain fifty days in advance of them. One, therefore, will have seen one hundred days more than the other, though they were born and died at the same place and at the same moment, and even lived continually in the same latitudes and reckoned by the same calendar .- Exchange.

"More Noise THAN WOOL" - Everybody knows that when a certain spiritual personage, more renowned for his talents than distinguished for his virtues, removed the hirsute envelope from a female swine, he lamented the scarcity of the wool, which was the reward of his labors. Had he lived in Indianapolis-of course he has never even so much as heard of the "Railroad City," and to speak of his ever being present here is consequently too absurd to be thought of for a moment-but had he lived here in these days, he might have made his shearing result in a profitable speculation. We saw yesterday morning at the Madison railroad depot forty thousand pounds of hogs' hair neatly packed in sacks for transportation. We were informed that it was intended for a Philadelphia house, to be used in stuffing cushions for coaches, railroad cars, &c. This is a new article of export from this region.
